Personal Budgets – a new way in to learning and work

Individual Budgets, Self-directed Support
Children, Young People, Families and Carers

Resource Allocation

£

Plan together

Whole Life Plan

Community Support

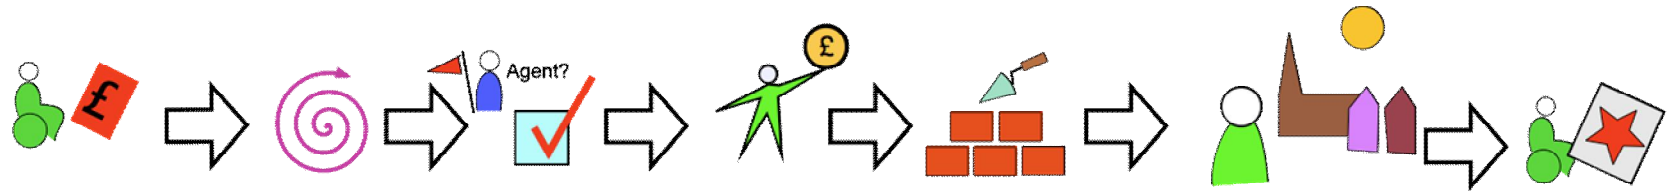
Outcomes Focus

Stay Safe
Be Healthy
Achieve
Economic well being
Make a positive contribution
Enjoy and Achieve

Lead professional – Long Term Relationship

CAF, Budget Holding role, single point of contact, crisis management, review

Safeguarding



1. My Money: Finding Out How Much
2. Making My Plan
3. Getting My Plan Agreed
4. Organising My Money
5. Organising My Support
6. Living My Life
7. Seeing How It's Worked

Seven Steps to Self-Directed Support

in Control

Personal Budgets – a new way in to learning and work

Improving Choice pathfinder 2003 – 2006; by 2008 330 young people are now using an individualised learning support fund giving them the support that best suits their needs and enabling many to stay in their local community and not have to leave the area to attend residential college

For some in Essex and in Sheffield this Individual Learning Support Fund has been used alongside a young person's Individual Budget from social care; the funding delivers outcomes including specified learning ones

As part of the DCSF Budget Holding Lead Professional pilot Hertfordshire gained funding from their local LSC to provide individually tailored and funded pathways back into work and learning for young people in their NEET group

Opportunities

Risks

The case for...

The case against...

Personal Budgets – a new way in to learning and work

Visit www.in-control.org.uk

Contact Nic Crosby, nic.crosby@in-control.org.uk