UNDERSTANDING THE GOVERNMENT'S PLAN

The government has set out a number of policies to turn around the lives of 120,000 of the most troubled families. And, extra funding has been made available for a network of people who will identify families in need of help.

To accompany this, you may be aware that Social Impact Bonds and an outreach programme will now run alongside the Work Programme.

DISCOVER HOW TO DELIVER OUTSTANDING SUPPORT

So, how do you implement and resource these initiatives to tackle crime, antisocial behaviour, school truancy and complex health issues? Attend this conference and you'll discover how your peers are putting these new initiatives into practice - and better serving the needs of troubled families.

Discover winning strategies to help troubled families:

- Get an insider's briefing on the Government's priorities for helping the UK's most troubled families – and be ready to meet its targets
- Understand recent legislation for troubled families and its impact on how you deliver local, and national, services
- Assess the financial framework for troubled families including payment by result and attachments fees
- Ensure your organisation understands the role of Social Impact Bonds and how to use them to provide services to troubled families with positive financial returns
- Discover new methods to prevent and identify troubled families in your area, so they don't 'fall through the net'
- Examine 'Functional Family Therapy' to reduce youth crime and anti-social behaviour in your area
- Learn about the new £200 million outreach service to overcome the barriers to employment - intended to accompany the Work Programme initiative
- Examine how the roll out of health and wellbeing board initiatives can support the services you provide for troubled families
- Discuss how you can scale-up initiatives that work for one family to meet the needs of thousands of troubled families
- Explore what resources are needed in order for you to manage a 'family support worker' model
- Hear about the lessons learnt from the Family Recovery programme - one local authority shares its experiences with you
- Discover how you can ensure the sustainability of your troubled family initiatives by working with community networks and local businesses
- Benefit from hearing successes, good news stories and gain practical information to implement in your day-to-day role through interactive practical seminars examining key issues on:
 - > Progressive models for local integrated working around the family
 - > Transforming early years
