How to obtain it

How to get a Unique Learner Number

A learner can only obtain a ULN by being enrolled on a learning course.

The learning provider will obtain the ULN for the learner.

There are three ways of obtaining a ULN:

- Individual enrolment onto the LRS via the web portal
- Using the batch upload facility onto the LRS interface
- Using web services via the MI system

Since March 2008, all school leavers already have a ULN

The Personal Learning Record

The Personal Learning Record (PLR) was released in November 2008 providing the learner and the provider with access to the learning events carried out by the learner.

- Over 5 million learners have learning events
- The learning events include data from school based learning
- The learning events include participation and qualification data from the Individualised Learner Record (ILR)
- The learning events are only available from Summer 2008
- The PLR is currently being implemented as a controlled roll out
- QCF and the Personal Learning Record
